

Job is a righteous man, but Satan thinks that's because he's wealthy. God allows Satan to take away Job's wealth and family. Job is very sad for a long time. God doesn't always take away sad times, but after a while he did give back everything Job lost, plus more.

"For I can do everything through Christ, who gives me strength" (Philippians 4:13).

Through the Week

- Have everyone in the family gather with their "comfort items." These are items that give us comfort when we're sad or scared.
- Show each other your items, and explain how they help you.
- Throughout the week, take notice of each other's moods. When you see that someone seems sad or scared, bring that person a comfort item (one of your own or one of theirs).

Talk About This...

- What's your saddest memory?
